

Re-brand creates unique pan-European energy consultancy

London – July 15 2010

European energy consultancy leader, EnergyQuote incorporating John Hall Associates Limited, is to rebrand as EnergyQuote JHA. This move enables the new company to optimise its service offerings by delivering increased capability and expertise to its client base of 800 major energy users located across Europe. EnergyQuote JHA will deliver 'a unique perspective' on energy markets and create leading-edge, bespoke, solutions for its clients' energy buying needs.

The name change is the final step in an extensive process of integration following EnergyQuote's acquisition of John Hall Associates in August 2009. EnergyQuote JHA combines the best of both businesses, in terms of values, culture, products, expertise, resources, people, depth of knowledge, technology and geographical expansion in Eastern European and North American markets.

Gary Worby, Managing Director at EnergyQuote JHA said, "The re-brand is an exciting development and through our combined resources, unique energy market insight and expertise it will accelerate our product innovation to customers in the energy market. We want to help them gain a greater insight and understanding of the growing complexity and volatility in today's energy markets."
